++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Scattered showers today, locally heavy and perhaps thundery.

Today:
A briefly dry start but locally heavy showers will soon develop. These showers will be heavy at times, carrying a risk of thunder and hail with them. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Tonight:
Any residual showers will gradually clear, leaving the region largely dry for a time. Further showers will move in overnight, affecting areas mostly in the north. Minimum temperature 1 deg C (34 deg F).

Tuesday:
Many areas dry with bright spells but there is still a chance of further showers breaking out across the region, possibly heavy for some but fewer than Monday. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Mostly dry with sunny spells on Wednesday. Fine and dry on Thursday with sunshine. Cloudier on Friday with outbreaks of rain. Temperatures gradually returning towards average.
